

The name Kenwood evokes specific images for those who know the Nation's Capitol and its environs. From the green tranquility of The Kenwood Club, an ambiance spreads throughout the neighborhood that has made this one of the Washington area's most sought-after addresses. It is urbanity softened by a pastoral setting. It is convenience without sacrifice of privacy.

The Kenwood is a residence of three hundred homes that has been heralded as the finest building of its genre in the county.

The Kenwood is distinguished by the sleek modern lines of its facade, and by the strength of construction within. Features such as solid plaster walls provide durability as well as added privacy for each resident.

And nowhere in the area will you find larger condominium residences, or such open, sweeping floor plans. Living rooms range to a breathtaking twenty-five feet. Bedrooms over twenty-

The airy balconies invite a social gathering or a quiet evening of private conversation.

The Kenwood's dining rooms have been designed to accommodate a full suite of dining furniture, and a full complement of guests. Kitchens are proportioned to provide a place for breakfast and other informal meals. Sparkling new appliances in your choice of colors will coordinate with the fresh new countertops, wall paper and no-wax vinyl floors. Luxury touches are apparent everywhere; from the formal foyers to the wood parquet floors and oversized windows. Closets abound throughout each apartment to provide ample storage.
